PRACTICALLY speaking, the General Election is over. Up to date, the result of the fight in 665 constituencies has come to hand, and these figures show a preponderating force for the coalesced Unionist Party. The combined strength is 410, which gives them a majority of 150 over the other parties in the House, the largest absolute majority obtained by any party since the General Election immediately following the passing of the Reform Act of 1832. We give below the results of every election since 1832; it is interesting to note the party fluctuations since the formation of the independent Irish Nationalist Party in 1874, a party which has on

The Gladstonians started the Parliament of 1892 with a majority of 40. but this was including 81 Nationalist The O. S. S. Co.'s steamer Myrmidon left members, at whose mercy the Ministry remained down to the fatal division which caused Lord Rosebery to resign. With few exceptions, the bye-elections presaged the fall of the Gladstonians. Many of the Liberals even were disgusted at the manner in which the Ministry stuck to office; but still there remained some who had faith in the Gladstonian science of electoral meteorology, political seers who endeavoured to revive the drooping spirits Liberal success at the polls. Election has come and gone; where is now the Liberal Party? It has not quite disappeared, but it is so attenuated in numbers as to be utterly insignificant. Never in its whole history has the Liberal Party been at so low an ebb. Not even after the disruption of the party, immediately after the introduction of Mr Gladstone's Home Rule Bill in 1885, did the Liberal Party make such a poor show in the country. The result of the election may be taken | Baylee and Rev. G. R. Vallings, s decidedly indicative of the fact that the country is tired of the promises and failures of the Liberal Ministers: Home Rule is as dead as Queen Anne. The 'predominant partner' had already decided against Home Rule; in the mesent election it has given a more decisive answer to Liberal asseverations, and Scotland, ashamed probably of the days when it was accustomed to send its seven or eight Conservative members to Westminster, now that the Gladstone glamour has been removed, has undoubtedly come to the decision | Siu Poo, $10. that too much time has been devoted to the wider interests of the Empire re- French Mail of let July, left Singapore on ceived the attention of Parliament. Through their leading organs they did not fail to remind each other that the country, in the backneyed words of sistently ignored. Lord Beaconsfield, did not love coalitions. Nor did they fail to point out From San Francisco, we learn that there that the Conservatives, since 1832, have seldom been able to secure a strong independent majority of their own, and that there has not been a purely Conservative majority since Lord Beaconsfield died. Tientsin, 16th Jaly. The new organisation of China's army, on the German system, is to be carried out by a board of which Lin Kun yi will be the chief. Wang Wen-shao will be another member, one more is to be appointed from Peking, and the fourth is to be Yin Chang, the head of the Military College here. This gentleman speaks, reads and writes German fluently, and has just been in consoltation with Liu Knn-yi. The Tungchow, Taksang and Feiching are all here in the river awaiting an opportunity to go down. The Neuchwang, which followed them up, got out of the deep channel and stock. There she still remains, as the current is very strong owing to the freshet caused by the rains on Saturday and Monday. The river has risen four feet. The three steamers will have to wait till the Newchwang, gets out of the way before they can go down. Owing to the detention of the Tungchow, the Vicerov has offered a special train to take the German Minister to Taku, so he may Ten of the O.M. fleet are to be told off to convey the soldiers from Shanhaikwan to their homes in Kiangei, Anhwei and Hunsu. The Kungpai left with 1,000 for Wahu. These men looked as though they would be glad to reach their homes again, and behaved well while at Tongku. - Mercury.

A LAWSUIT of most unusual character was begun at Minneapolis on June 29. Platt B. Walker Jr., a lumberman, and W. H. Ellis. a well-known newspaper man of that city, are plaintiffs, and a big summer hotel at Spirit Lake, Ia., is defendant. While bicycling through lows recently Walker and Ellis stopped at Spirit Lake for dinner. What was their surprise on attempting to enter the dining-room to be informed that they would not be allowed in the room with their bioyole trousers on ! At first the object. tion was taken as a joke, but the management insisted that they would not be allowed to walk through the diving-room wearing knee pants while there were ladies present. Mr Walker finally had to assuage his appetite in ordinary attire and Mr Ellis went down town for his dinner. They now propose to get even for their ruffled dignity in the most substantial manner. This is surely a case of modesty run wild, Owing to increase of Business, W. Robinson and Co. have removed their Plane and Organ showrooms to Connaught House—large stock
